

Dear Mr. King,

I would like you to know that I have received your prototype and am very much satisfied with progress you and your team have made with inception of the design and setup for my website.

In regards to the website UI, the core design is just as what I've envisioned. Although there may be some parts that need further augmentation, from what I've seen so far, I am confident in entrusting the rest of this project to the capable hands of you and your team.

Once again thank you, and I am looking forward to the rest of what you and your team have in store.

Best regards,
