

Dear Mr. King,

I have received your email regarding your request for a participant in your college's project proposal, and I am writing to let you know that I am willing to comply for this project that you have in store. The scope of my business is to import goods from overseas that cater to a majority of adolescent audience.

With technology being more and more accessible and trendier to the younger generation, I believe that this venture will greatly aid my business in promoting more sales and help us gain more brand recognition in the long term.

Should you push through with said project, I have nothing but gratitude for you and your peers. We may discuss more specific details through email or by text, whichever is more convenient.

Best regards,
